(a) whether it is a fact that Government have evolved a proposal to appoint a Special Envoy to deal with different States on naxalite violence;

(b) if so, whether it is also a fact that this Special Envoy will try to bring diverse factions involved in naxalite violence to the conference table;

(c) the details of the role of Government in evolving a nation-wide formula for talks with various naxalite outfits;

(d) whether it is a fact that Government had also discussed this matter with the Andhra Pradesh Government; and

(e) if so, the details thereof?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS (SHRI SRIPRAKASH JAISWAL): (a) No, Sir.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) to (e) A Conference of Chief Ministers of naxalite affected States including Andhra Pradesh was convened by the Central Government at Hyderabad on 21.9.2004 to discuss inter-alia the issue of holding peace dialogue with the naxalite groups. During the Conference, the following was agreed to:

(i) If in its assessment a State finds the conditions conducive, it may hold peace talks with the naxal groups.

(ii) During the period of peace dialogue, the State would continue to perform its legal duties to protect the lives and property of all citizens and step up presence of the State Government machinery in the affected areas.

(iii) The States should consult each other, pursue a coordinated approach and conduct peace dialogue in a manner that it does not impact the other States adversely.

(iv) The States should modernize their police forces and improve intelligence gathering and sharing mechanisms to take sustained and effective police action, wherever the possibility of a peace dialogue does not exist.
